NEW DELHI (AP) — The Chinese Communists have broken through the main Indian defense line at the eastern end of the Himalayas, captured Walong and launched attacks on two other key points of the battle line, a Defense Ministry spokesman said Sunday.

Capture Walong
The spokesman said the Chinese, after capturing Walong near the Burma border, moved 12 miles farther down the Lohit River toward the Plain of Assam.

Fighting was going on at a new Indian defense position south of Walong, he added.

The Chinese also launched a major offensive 310 miles west of

Missile Workers Vote For Strike

BURBANK, Calif. (AP) — Union workers in a mass meeting Sunday authorized a strike at Lockheed Aircraft Company's huge missile plant at Burbank.

The International Association of Machinists said the vote was 3 to 1 in favor of a strike. A spokesman refused to release exact figures on the vote, saying, "They're never released."

Hagerty Defends Hiss

NEW YORK (AP) — James C. Hagerty, American Broadcasting Co. news chief, Sunday night defended last week's appearance on the network of convicted perjurer Alger Hiss as an exercise in freedom of the press.

"Let's get one thing straight," Hagerty said. "I'm against Hiss and everything he stands for. I have no use for him—never have had, and never will have."

"But that doesn't alter the fact that he did play an important part in the political career of Richard Nixon," Hagerty said in a brief television appearance.

Hagerty's taped statement was aired in answer to a storm of complaints received about a program last Sunday entitled "The Political Obituary of Richard Nixon."

Hiss, largely through the work of a congressional committee headed by then Representative and later Vice President Nixon, was convicted of lying in connection with charges he passed information to the Russians.

Hagerty, who served as White House press secretary during the eight-year administration of President Eisenhower, when Nixon was vice president, conceded that some criticism of the Hiss appearance consisted of "an honest and sincere position."

"By the same token," Hagerty added, "I cannot accept the charge that we used him deliberately to blacken or smear the patriotism and the integrity of Richard Nixon."

"To me it is unthinkable that Hiss, a convicted perjurer, could possibly damage Richard Nixon, whose credentials for public service and patriotism have national recognition," he said, adding:

"If I believed that, if I had any doubt as to that, I never would have permitted Hiss to appear on the program."

"From the very outset, however, certain fundamental principles were at stake that are not debatable. Issues were raised which are far larger than the points I have just discussed."

"In this situation, the principle of a free press has come under attack."

Nixon himself questioned Saturday the importance of the Hiss appearance "when weighed on the scales against thousands of wires and letters from patriotic Americans."

The program last week resulted from the defeat of Nixon Nov. 6 in his Republican bid for election as governor of California. Democratic Gov. Edmund Brown won re-election.

Thomas McNett, president of District 727 of the union, said the negotiating committee will meet Monday to set a strike date.

Lockheed and IAM have disputed over the company's refusal to allow its workers to vote on the issue of a union shop, which would require all employees to join the union.

A board appointed by President Kennedy recommended such a vote for the whole aerospace industry. Other California firms — Convair, Ryan Aeronautical — accepted the recommendation, but employees of all three rejected the union shop. A two-thirds majority was required.

A union spokesman said 9,000 to 10,000 IAM members met on a college football field in Van Nuys to vote on ballots reading: "Do you authorize strike action?"

He said "a couple thousand" among them were workers from the Van Nuys plant, the others from the Burbank plant. A 75 per cent majority was needed to authorize a strike, union spokesman Jack Roberts said.

Meanwhile, other thousands of Machinists Union members were voting at Lockheed's big Sunnyvale, Calif., plant, where the submarine missile Polaris is made, and at Lockheed installations at Santa Cruz and Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif.; Cape Canaveral Fla., and Hawaii.

Results from these points were to be announced later.

20,000 Members
The union claims a membership of more than 20,000 Lockheed employees, 13,000 of them at Burbank, and says it bargains for 36,000 Lockheed workers in all plants and installations.

Lockheed said there would be no comment Sunday. It had indicated previously it would try to keep some of its operations going ahead in event of a strike.

McNett told members assembled on the bleachers and grass that Lockheed management "dislikes the greatest of all democratic processes — the ballot box."

He said he had been told that Lockheed's board of directors had voted 4-2 "to keep you from exercising the same privilege of voting."

"President Kennedy and Secretary of Labor Wirtz are behind you 100 per cent," McNett said.

Pentagon Statement
This referred to a Pentagon statement Saturday that Lockheed "stands alone" among missile firms in refusing to accept recommendations of the presidential board.

The statement added that the President had said responsibility for a strike "would be clear to the American people."

A five-day waiting period is required before a strike.

The Pentagon said Saturday it is looking into alternate means of production if a strike comes. In reply, Lockheed expressed belief that a strike would involve only part of its work force.

Heart Attack Kills Granville Shiffer

GRANVILLE SHIFFER, businessman and a former Monroe County commissioner, died Saturday at 5:30 a.m. in his home of a heart attack. He was 66 at the time of death.

Mr. Shiffer was owner and operator of Shiffer's Bituminous Service and was a partner of John R. Lesoine in Pocono Industries, Inc., Stroudsburg.

He was a member of Barger Lodge 325, F&AM, Stroudsburg; St. John's Lutheran Church, of Stroudsburg; Lehigh Consistory, Allentown; B.P.O. Elks 319, East Stroudsburg; P.O.S. of A., Tannersville; Motor Truckers Assn., a member and trustee of F. O. Eagles 1106, Stroudsburg.

Mr. Shiffer served two terms as a Monroe County commissioner. His first term was as a majority party member and the second term as a minority party member.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Ruth Neyhart Shiffer, at home; two sisters, Mrs. Lula Miller, Stroudsburg, and Mrs. G. A. Schuttler, Dover, N.J.; one brother, Arthur, Stroudsburg.

the beginning of the Chinese offensive Oct. 20 until last Friday showed 1,623 Indians killed or missing. The Indian army has 155 wounded men under treatment.

The Chinese appear to have brought more troops into Tibet since the beginning of the offensive. Prime Minister Nehru estimated earlier that the Chinese have 13 or 14 divisions in Tibet. The spokesman said the Chinese now have 15 or 16 divisions.

The Chinese attacked Walong with "well above a division," according to the spokesman, who said a Chinese division is comprised of about 20,000 men, including supporting labor.

At Walong the Chinese used artillery, heavy mortars and recoilless guns.

"Despite heavy casualties, the Chinese kept pouring in wave after wave," the spokesman said.

"Our troops put up most stubborn resistance and inflicted heavy casualties on the Chinese aggressors before we were forced to withdraw to the south of Walong."

Voters Back DeGaulle

PARIS (AP) — French voters gave President Charles de Gaulle another ringing vote of confidence Sunday through a surprising wave of support for Gaullist candidates for the National Assembly.

Mounting returns Monday were a stinging rebuke to the old political parties which De Gaulle has been fighting with scorn and sarcasm. Some of France's best known politicians who had based their campaign on opposition to De Gaulle and his strong presidential policies went down to defeat.

Shakeup
In the shakeup of political traditions, only the Communists appeared to be successfully bucking the Gaullist tide, increasing their popular vote over the last parliamentary elections, in 1958, but still short of their pull in pre-De Gaulle 1956.

Interior Minister Roger Frey called the results "a real landslide" for the Gaullist Union for a New Republic (UNR), which is pledged to unwavering support for De Gaulle. He predicted the UNR would elect a majority in the 481-seat assembly in the two-stage balloting, which ends next Sunday.

In 1958, when De Gaulle was considered at the peak of his popularity, the UNR managed to win only 188 seats.

"This is the first time any party has ever had more votes than the Communists," said Frey, a UNR member. "The UNR is now the first party in France."

Fill 94 Seats
In the first 94 seats filled, the UNR took 46. Ten other seats were won by independents or members of other parties who have supported De Gaulle and were endorsed by Gaullist organizations.

Besides the UNR deputies, those so far elected were Popular Republican Movement 14 (including two with Gaullist endorsement); Independents-Peasants 16 (including 6 with Gaullist endorsement); Communists 6; Radical Socialists and Allies 7; Socialists 1.

Another major development in the Bonn government crisis came when Hermann Dufues, executive secretary of Adenauer's Christian Democratic party, strongly indicated he is siding with opponents of Strauss, a chief figure in the three-week-old Der Spiegel affair.

Mende told a Munich news conference he is certain his proposal for a pull-out will be approved at a meeting of the Free Democratic party's executive committee in Nuremberg on Monday. Mende said his party is ready to continue the present coalition if Strauss resigns.

Dufues, himself a possible future candidate for the chancellorship, called on Adenauer to end the crisis by reorganizing the government. Although he did not elaborate, his unsolicited press statement was interpreted here as a suggestion that Strauss be eased out of his job.

The dispute is the most serious since West Germany became a nation 13 years ago. Adenauer's own position hangs in the balance.

Strauss says he has no intention of leaving his defense job because of the crisis, created by the arrest of the publisher and four editors of the news magazine Der Spiegel on suspicion of treason. Since the magazine had been consistently assailing Strauss, the action against it was generally viewed as vindictive. Strauss has denied this.

The defense chief incurred the wrath of the opposition Socialists who want him fired, after he first denied he had any part in the Spiegel affair but later conceded in Parliament he was instrumental in the arrest of one newsmen.

"I shall remain defense minister," Strauss said in an interview with the newspaper Welt am Sonntag. "The chancellor and I are of the same opinion in the entire matter."

Ready To Quit
Nevertheless, persons close to Strauss portray him as extremely nervous and ready to quit. This appeared to jibe with earlier reports that Strauss wanted to get out last Tuesday, but changed his mind because he did not want the resignation to be viewed as a Socialist victory.

Speculation among politicians generally is that Strauss will leave the defense job after the Bavarian elections next Sunday. Mende said withdrawal of the five ministers had become necessary because Adenauer rejected a Free Democratic request to fire Strauss.

Alessandroni, also in Florida, said, "it may only be necessary to redraft the petition... this, however, is the first obligation of Crumlish." Alessandroni said he accepted an invitation from Crumlish to meet with him Tuesday in Philadelphia.

Alessandroni said he had every reason to believe that Crumlish plans to use "every method possible to proceed with a grand jury investigation."

Crumlish said he believed his petition was legally sufficient. He said Gold's opinion will be reviewed by members of his staff and then "I will decide the appropriate action to take in regards to the decision."

Gold held that Crumlish's petition was based on second-hand knowledge and lacked "the most elementary allegation—that there are systematic criminal depredations by public officers."

The judge said he rejected the petition without prejudice, and that Crumlish may amend his petition or file anew.

Referring to Crumlish in preliminary remarks before going into his legal reasoning, Gold said:

"Gov. elect Scranton characterized all Philadelphia judges appointed by former Gov. Leader and by Gov. Lawrence as 'political hacks,' and in so doing he cast unjustified and dismal reflection upon some of our ablest judges, who now grace the bench of Philadelphia with dignity, scholarship and judicial temperament."

Three bodies were recovered from the Atlantic 300 miles northeast of Bermuda on Saturday.

The San Gaspar picked up three of the crewmen from lifeboats and the rest from the motorship's deck. The tanker tried to tow the motorship, but abandoned the effort when the latter turned sideways and erratically strained the line.

U.S. Coast Guard and military planes called off their hunt for further victims from the Greek freighter Captain George, which was abandoned by its 25-man crew after an explosion set it afire Wednesday night.

Truck drivers from Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Delaware and Maryland were involved in the voting.

Adenauer's Regime Doomed To Breakup

BONN, Germany (AP) — A breakup of Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's government seemed inevitable Sunday night as his junior coalition partners prepared to pull out of the Cabinet.

Free Democratic party chairman Erich Mende said he would propose withdrawal of his party's five ministers from the Cabinet to spark removal of Defense Minister Franz Joseph Strauss in a government reshuffle.

Sides With Opponents
Another major development in the Bonn government crisis came when Hermann Dufues, executive secretary of Adenauer's Christian Democratic party, strongly indicated he is siding

Accusation Printed In Soviet Paper

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union defended its Cuban rocket withdrawal Sunday and accused Communist China of siding with the imperialists.

The accusation was made in a page and a half article in the Communist party organ, Pravda. It was one of the toughest replies yet to Red Chinese criticism.

The article was written by Boris N. Ponomarev, member of the party Central Committee and of the party Secretariat, a historian and one of the principal Soviet theorists. It was published on the eve of the meeting of the Central Committee, at which Premier Khrushchev's policy on industry, agriculture and probably his foreign policy are coming up for review.

Aimed At Red Chinese
The author aimed his blows not at the Chinese Communists but at the Albanians, who in the Soviet-Chinese ideological debates have been the principal spokesmen for the Chinese position and almost always the target for replies.

There also was an implied attack on China's frontier quarrel with India. The article said one cannot prove about the struggle against imperialism and at the same time "carry out provocative actions which do not strengthen, but undermine the cause of peace and socialism. That is what is actually done in practice by the Albanian leaders."

It was the first semblance of a blow aimed by the Soviet Union at the Chinese operations on the Indian frontier. Prior to this the Soviet government has sought to take a position of being friends to both sides.

The Chinese have been assailing the Soviet Union for pulling its rockets out of Cuba in an agreement with President Kennedy. Friday, a Chinese broadcast accused Khrushchev of being "scared stiff" of U.S. military strength.

Memorial Statue Erected At Mountainhome Church

MOUNTAINHOME — A three and one-half ton marble likeness of Christ has been erected as a memorial in the front of the Mountainhome Methodist Church.

The carving, in Cararra marble, was done in Italy larger than life size, depicting Christ in an attitude of prayer. Carved in stone at the base of the statue are the words, "Not My will but Thine," which quote the words Christ prayed in the Garden of Gethsemane.

The memorial was erected at a cost of $3,500 with arrangements made for a dedication to be held in the Spring at which time, the donor will be identified.

Rev. John S. Carter, former pastor, announced the arrival of the memorial at his last service in the Mountainhome congregation, Nov. 11. He called it a "Christian witness in the heart of the Poconos."

Moonshine Capital

QUEBEC (AP) — The Royal Canadian Mounted Police say the city of Quebec is the moonshine capital of Canada, consuming an estimated 5,000 gallons of illegal liquor each month. Moonshining in Quebec Province costs the federal government $15 million a year in taxes, the RCMP adds.

Four Chinese Die As Spies

MACAO (AP)—Border sources reported Sunday that four Chinese were executed for espionage Saturday, by Chinese Communist authorities, after a public trial on Lappa Island across the half-mile stretch of water from the Macao shoreline. Informants said 2,000 villagers on the island attended the open-air trial and a public address system carried the proceedings.

Travel officials in France say visitors come to that country at all times of the year while French tourists generally go abroad during the July to September vacation period.

Rev. John Carter Called To Organize New Congregation

REV. John S. Carter, former pastor of the Mountainhome Methodist Church, has taken the responsibility of organizing a congregation and building a new church in Richboro, Pa.

The call came from Bishop Fred P. Corson of the Philadelphia Conference, through Rev. Dr. Price Collins.

The Episcopal address at the General Conference 1960 stated "to keep pace with its share of an expanding population, the Methodist Church needs to organize a new congregation every 22 hours during the next quadrennium."

In line with this the Philadelphia annual conference launched the Forward Fund For Christ, with the purpose of making available funds for capital improvements on institutions, educational and youth and church expansion and redevelopment.

50 Families

Rev. Carter will open the program in Northampton County with a group of 50 Methodist families. Through the auspices of the Forward Fund For Christ, a parsonage and a five-acre church site have been secured. There are six other such sites in eastern Pennsylvania.

"It is with deep emotions that the parsonage family realizes that their personal ministry to the Mountainhome Methodist Congregation comes to a close," Rev. Carter told his congregation Monday night, at a farewell assembly. "But," he added, "there is the joy of knowing that there awaits Rev. and Mrs. William MacLachlan and their family the same Christian love and fellowship which was experienced by us."

Preach Sermons

The two ministers each preached their first sermons yesterday. Rev. Carter at the elementary school in Richboro and Rev. MacLachlan in Mountainhome.

During his pastorate in Mountainhome, Rev. and Mrs. Carter became the parents of two children, sons, Richard Eric, 19 months and David Kent, four months. The address is 198 Alms-house Rd., R.D. 1, Ivyland.

The children of Rev. and Mrs. MacLachlan are Joy, six; Sharon, five and Mark five months. The two girls will begin school at the Barrett Elementary Center today. Rev. MacLachlan will give the sermon at the 2nd annual Community Thanksgiving Service Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the auditorium of Pocono Playhouse. Special music will be presented by the combined choirs of the three churches.

Science Fair Committee To Meet

A MEETING of the Monroe County Science Fair committee will be held at East Stroudsburg State College on Tuesday night at nine o'clock.

Preliminary plans for this year's fair will be discussed at this meeting, as well as eligibility rules for scholarship awards.

All members of the committee are urged to be present for the session.

Coast Guard To Continue Recruiting

IT WAS announced by the Coast Guard Recruiting Station, Wilkes-Barre, Pa., that a representative will continue to visit the Stroudsburg area on Thursdays due to the number of inquiries received.

At the present time the Coast Guard is accepting applications from young men between the ages of 17 and 26.

Former Coast Guard and Navy personnel who held the following ratings are eligible for enlistment in the same rating held at time of discharge: QM, SO, FT, ET, RM, and EM.

The first true light on cosmic rays came in 1910 when the Austrian physicist, Victor F. Hess, took his instruments to 17,000 feet in a balloon and found that cosmic-ray activity intensified at higher altitudes.

IF YOU DON'T NEED IT ALL FOR CHRISTMAS . . .

. . . put it in a SAVINGS ACCOUNT at FIRST-STROUDSBURG NATIONAL.

It is seldom that we don't need all the money in our Christmas Club . . . if the true purpose of the club was to pay Christmas bills. However, there are a lot of folks who use the Christmas Club saving method for taxes, vacations, and for many other reasons.

If this is the case, and you don't need the money right away, wouldn't it be the smart thing to start a SAVINGS ACCOUNT with it??

A SAVINGS ACCOUNT passbook with a nice little initial deposit in it . . . this makes a very acceptable Christmas gift, too . . . especially for young people planning for an education, or planing for their marriage. KEEP THIS IN MIND.

Closing The Door

The Constitution says that Federal money shall be spent only when Congress appropriates it, but in recent years somethings called "backdoor spending" has come about which violates the spirit, if not the letter, of this provision.

Last year, for example, requests by the Administration for backdoor spending authority would have allowed various agencies to draw on the Treasury for more than $28 billion. The Congress put its foot down on some of these requests, and the spending authorizations finally came to just under $20 billion.

This year the Administration sharply curbed the appetite of the bureau for unchecked money. It requested backdoor spending authority that would have cost about $2¼ billion. And Congress trimmed this still further, so that far less than half a billion dollars finally was authorized.

Both the President and the Congress are to be congratulated on plugging a serious leak in our Treasury. The leak had been growing bigger, year by year, until they stemmed it. An almost unbroken run of Federal deficits can be traced partly to this practice of making end-runs around Congressional scrutiny of projects and programs.

Now it's budget-making time again, and it is hoped that the Administration and the myriad agencies have learned their lesson. Congress will consist of many of the same men who were there this year, and the record shows that these men generally oppose such reckless budgetary practices. Time will be saved and the new budget can be closer to final form if the departments will revert to the normal approach of asking specific amounts or specific purposes.

Then the Congress can assess the worth of the proposals in behalf of us all, and decide which projects deserve priority. We know that the nation's tax revenue never could and never will keep up with the ambitions of the spenders.

More than a hundred members of the House last year rallied behind Rep. Thomas M. Pelly of Washington and Rep. Clarence Cannon of Missouri in a bi-partisan effort to shut that backdoor. It's nearly closed now, and should be shut all the way.

Riot Bill In Mississippi

To no one's surprise the Mississippi State Legislature is about to bill the federal government for damages caused by rioters at Oxford in September.

An investigating committee claims, in fact, that Washington owes some $344,000 for destruction of property at the University of Mississippi.

This claim is not likely to get anywhere in court. But the court of public opinion will doubtless try it. So a brief review is in order.

The federal government did indeed intervene at Oxford — in support of court judgments. But it did so with troops only after Governor Barnett had virtually given carte blanche to those fight-packing racists whom most civic leaders in the South eventually come to reject.

Furthermore, the troops and federal marshals, when they came, used mostly tear gas, and the sight of bayonets to gain control. It was the blaspheming rioters who seized the university fire truck and bulldozer now put on the damage bill, and who broke benches, marred buildings, and tore up turf in the wild battle.

It seems quite likely that under the circumstances the Mississippi Legislature may have to send a major part of the bill eventually to its own appropriations committee.

China And India

Before it is possible to understand the war between Red China and India, it is necessary to realize that Nationalist China on Formosa remains silent.

Prior to 1925, the flag of China consisted of five bars: one for each of the component people of the country — the Chinese, the Manchus, the Mongols, the Tibetans and the Moslems. More realistically than either the later Kuomintang or the Communists, the early revolutionists particularly recognized the racial complexity of China.

In a book I wrote in 1932, "The Tinder Box of Asia," is a map of China which includes parts of India but also areas that are now in Russia. I then wrote:

"It must be noted that China does not politically recognize the loss of Mongolia and Tibet or the lessening of its authority in Sinkiang, Turkestan, and were China today sufficiently powerful to regain these territories by warfare, she would fight for them."

But in every moment of dynastic weakness in Chinese history, the periphery of the empire was reduced, large areas becoming either wholly independent or colonies of other countries. China's long and bloody history is a record of just such losses of territory and subsequent irretrieval.

This was written in 1932; the irretrieval is taking place today. That is normal to every Chinese, whether Nationalist or Communist. Nehru surely knew all about that, because he can read maps as well as anyone.

It is even possible that as early as the Bandung Conference (1955) Krishna Menon realized that sooner or later, India would have to fight for a boundary between China and India which the British delineated and protected. Without the British to do the job, India had to depend upon the United Nations or very clever diplomacy. The Communist did not give him enough time.

The Chinese never forget Chinese cultural unity even when they fight each other. Sun Yat-sen's Revolution was originally designed to drive the Manchus from China. They were then ruling the country. The Ming Dynasty, which had been defeated by the Manchus, had attempted to erect a vestigial government on Formosa. This failed.

There was no successor Chinese dynasty, so a Republic was established. Of this, Liang Chichao, a modern Chinese political thinker, said:

"During the last two decades China has tried to transplant, one after another, the political institutions of Europe onto her own soil. Constitutional Monarchy has been tried, Republicanism, Confederacy, Sovietism; all have been tried as though China desired to try every form in existence. In reality, nothing but the name had been introduced, and confusion is made more confounded."

For when an institution whose roots are not among the people is introduced from the top, it is like plucking the flowers of a neighbor to embellish the dying branches of one's own tree; there can be no life."

"The Republic did not work out because it could not establish a center of power. What is not recalled these days is that the early revolutionary movement of Sun Yat-sen was profoundly influenced by the Black Dragon Society of Japan. Neither India nor Indian philosophy played any role in the development of the revolutionary party, called the Tungmenhui."

The last Ming Emperor was conquered by the Manchus in 1644; the Manchus were overthrown in 1912. To the Chinese, this is just a moment in history and China can always wait.

This must be understood if one is to realize that China is now going back to about 1735, to the Chienlung Line which not only must take China to the Bay of Bengal, but includes, in Turkestan, territory now Russian and the Maritime provinces of Siberia. And China will seek to take it all, sooner or later.

The races in Eastern Siberia are numerous. What, in the West, are called Tatars, at one time or another, were among the peoples of China. These races are not Russian by any scientific measurement. They are not Slavs. Stalin wisely attempted to Russify all the peoples of Russia; in this he failed because time was against him.

Khrushchev apparently cannot defeat the principle of localism which is so dear to the Oriental conception of life — the family, the clan, the village are realities; Peking and Moscow are far away. To the latter one offers obedience until it becomes unnecessary. The West seeks complicated explanations; in the East, it is simple.

'He Says He Doesn't Want To Give It Up!'

By Mason Denison

Harrisburg — Within the space of the next two months destiny will be riding the rails in more ways than one as the outlook for Pennsylvania during the coming four years of the new Scranton Administration begins to shape up.

The questions at the moment: Are Pennsylvanians destined to be sold down the river once again? Will political interests rule the roost from the Statehouse offices atop Capitol Hill — to the exclusion of practical intents and purposes? Will the year 1963 see simply a return to in-the-saddle pre-1953 Republican days? Are the same old tired faces (a little more lined and aged now) destined to flower once again in the vineyard of political hackism?

The answers to these questions will determine two primary courses: (1) the political future of the Republican Party in the Keystone State — and that of Mr. Scranton himself, (2) whether Pennsylvania moves ahead or continues stumbling by the wayside.

To illustrate the point — timely and succinctly: Today Republican members of the State Senate (they now hold 27 of the 50 seats) were scheduled to meet here today for the (ostensible) purpose of "reorganizing" in anticipation of the upcoming 1963 Legislative session. Inasmuch as they held control this time (26 votes are needed) of the upper house, what decisions are made by this GOP bloc could, in theory, dictate the stand to be taken by the Senate as a whole.

At stake is the post of President Pro Tem — the real ruler of the Senate — who among other things controls patronage, critical and important committee assignments, and the like. He becomes one of the powers on Capitol Hill.

After this post in no uncertain terms is ageless (86) GOP Political old pro M. Harvey Taylor, of Dauphin County, who in the days of yesteryear when the GOP elephant in Pennsylvania was a raging and unstoppable beast, literally ran the show — and served repeatedly as President Pro Tem.

He wants that post again now that GOP's are in the saddle once more — but last week Lebanon County's (GOP) Senator Thomas H. Ehrig bravely and with feathery flying announced his point-blank opposition to Taylor ven, saying at one point: "The Republican majority in the Senate cannot afford to frustrate the voters of Pennsylvania by regressive leadership — by the return to power politics in the Senate, which is what Bill Scranton fought so hard against in this state."

For daring to beard the lion's den, the indomitable Mr. Ehrig (now in his second term) unquestionably demonstrated he is one of those few blessed with considerable fortitude — even though he unquestionably stands to be banished to the outer periphery of Outer Mongolia should Mr. Taylor assume control as ultimately expected.

It was following Mr. Ehrig's eloquent though tissue-in-a-hurricane musing for today was suddenly snatched by Caucus Chairman Robert D. Fleming — on the finger-snapping of the venerable Mr. Taylor, to forestall any possible build-up of support in behalf of the Ehriggood move.

Actually this early move hardly seems necessary — it is doubtful that any of the other GOP

The Pennsylvania Story

Scranton 'House' Is Shaping Up

old standbys would have the fortitude to flaunt a Taylor dictate as did Mr. Ehriggood, although it would require only one more Republican defeat!

In any event, this byplay isn't the critical point: What is critical though is the simple bare and bald fact that the return of Mr. Taylor to the Senate helm can be construed as nothing more than a return to the political ignominy that sent Republicans to the ashcan just eight short years ago!

It is inconceivable — yet it stands an excellent chance of actually happening — unless of course another wheaties-fortified Senator Ehriggood decides to stand on his two feet by the time the Senate formally and officially reorganizes in January.

Is the Taylor power-play destined to be the typical trademark of the incoming Republican Scranton Administration?

Kremlin-Belgrade Split May End

By Robert S. Allen and Paul Scott

Washington — A full reconciliation between Moscow and Belgrade is now in the making. Yugoslavia's "revisionist" split with the Kremlin is coming to an end around December 10 when Marshal Tito visits Moscow at Premier Khrushchev's invitation.

Tito's visit, his first to Russia since 1956, is expected to produce sweeping new economic and military ties between these two Communist nations, according to U. S. diplomatic intelligence estimates.

The establishment of a link between Yugoslavia and the Warsaw Pact is also under study by Tito and Khrushchev. This may be arranged by Tito's assigning military observers to the Warsaw Pact's military headquarters in Moscow. At present, Yugoslavia is not a member of this Communist military alliance.

These and other foreboding developments are reported in leaks from the series of economic-military talks now going on in Belgrade between Russian-Yugoslav officials.

The private talks were opened when Leonid Brezhnev, nominal President of the Soviet Union, made his state visit to Belgrade in October and received Yugoslavia's highest decoration from Tito.

These unpublished discussions already have produced some startling agreements, including: A $100 million Soviet arms deal to modernize Tito's military forces. Russian IL-28 bombers, MIG-21s, mobile artillery rockets, and heavy tanks are to be furnished Yugoslavia.

A $740 million Soviet-Yugoslav trade agreement, running for three years. Under its terms, Tito will ship chemicals, cables and agricultural products to Russia in exchange for machinery and petroleum products.

The arms agreement is the first to be made between Russia and Yugoslavia since Tito broke with the Soviet Union in 1949. Since that historic division, Tito has received more than $2.3 billion in U. S. military and economic aid.

The massive new trade agreement is by far the largest ever entered into by Tito and Khrushchev. It represents a doubling of trade over the past three years.

Unfinished Business — The fate of Albania's Stalinist and pro-Red China Dictator Enver Hoxha will be decided at the Moscow meeting of Communist Dictator Tito gets his way.

Tito plans to seek Khrushchev's support to "liberate" adjoining Albania from Hoxha. With Hoxha's regime out of the way, Tito would incorporate Albania into the Federation of Yugoslavia. Like the U.S.S.R., Yugoslavia is a union of Communist states.

Tito and Khrushchev are bitterly feuding with Hoxha. Tito has been doing that for some ten years, since he broke with Stalin and Hoxha venomously denounced Tito. Khrushchev castigated Hoxha and severed diplomatic relations with Albania a year ago.

The outcome of the Tito-Khrushchev talks will go a long way in determining what action the U. S. takes on a new Yugoslav request for a million tons of wheat.

A "Presidential determination," now required by law before aid can be given a Communist country, is being held up until after the Moscow meeting.

Missing The Boat — There is growing belief among intelligence experts at the Pentagon that Russia made its quick withdrawal of nuclear missiles from Cuba to prevent the U. S. from getting its hands on one of them.

Also, that the U. S. missed the boat by not going in and capturing these missiles.

If one of the 2,000-mile Soviet IRBMs had been seized intact, U. S. missile specialists could have gained a wealth of top-secret knowledge of Russian rocketry.

Of prime importance to this country are details of the guidance and gyroscopic systems the Russians are using in directing their missiles to their targets.

One military source is offering rewards up to $500,000 to Cuban refugees for certain types of electronic equipment the Russians are believed to be using to guide their missiles.

"If we had gone in there and captured those Soviet missiles," said one of the Army's top missile experts, "we could have learned whether the missiles are radio-controlled and, if so, what radio frequency is used."

He explained that if this information had been obtained, the U. S. would be in a position to divert the course of these missiles by jamming the frequencies.

He also pointed out that if Soviet nuclear warheads were obtained, we could determine whether they are equipped to be set off by ground control at any given altitude above the target, and just what materials — plastic or alloy — the Russians use in their nose cones for re-entry.

Note: A new Soviet missile, called the Frog, has shown up in Cuba. According to Cuban refugees, it is carried atop a tank-type vehicle and has a range of 300 miles. At least 35 of these missiles have been seen on the island.

GOOD-WILL GIFT — Captain William W. Gentry, Commanding Officer of the USS Pocono representing the Pocono Mountains Vacation Bureau, Inc. in Portici (Naples) Italy, delivers sorely needed school supplies to a grateful Director of Children's Orphanage, Dr. Teofilo Santi. The school supplies consisted of thousands of brightly colored pencils imprinted with "Pocono Mountains, Penna." All resort members of the Pocono Mountains Vacation Bureau, Inc. contributed to the worthy cause.

USS Pocono Delivers Good Will Gift To Orphanage

THE U. S. Navy may be busy in the Caribbean area, but they're also doing an outstanding job in the Mediterranean area in connection with the "People to People" Program.

William J. Altier, president of the Pocono Mountains Vacation Bureau, Inc. announced today that he just received a letter of gratitude from Captain William W. Gentry, Commanding Officer, USS Pocono, for the generous contribution of school supplies made by resort members of the Pocono Mountains Vacation Bureau, Inc.

Captain Gentry, representing the Pocono Mountains Vacation Bureau, Inc. made the presentation in behalf of the local organization.

Earlier this year, upon learning of the USS Pocono's scheduled good-will tour in the Mediterranean, the resort owners voted to make a contribution of school supplies to aid the needy children of the area through the famed "People to People" Program.

Newfoundl'd Rotarians To Sponsor Film

NEWFOUNDLAND — "Project Disney" is among the important plans being made by the Rotary Club for the near future.

The club will sponsor a full-length Disney movie, "Toby Tyler at the Circus," and a cartoon, "Santa's Workshop," in the Southern Wayne Joint School Auditorium on December 7. The time will be announced.

"Project Disney" has a two-fold purpose: to provide entertainment for the youngsters and to cooperate with the American Legion Post and Auxiliary in their annual distribution of Christmas baskets to the needy in the area. Admission to the show is one can of food, preferably not home-canned food, since this is in glass containers and there is danger of breakage.

Since the theatres and drive-ins in the Newfoundland area are closed during the Winter, the youngsters have little opportunity to see good motion pictures, according to the discussion held by Rotary in preparing for the film. Everyone is invited to attend on December 7.

This week, Dr. Lester Jordan, former district governor in 1950, and Elmer Daniels, a member and past president of the Pocono Mountains Rotary Club, and District Governor in 1961, spoke on the student exchange program. Both are on the committee for this program this year.

They revealed that the student exchange program, which sends high school students to foreign lands to study, and welcomes exchange students from other countries, was adopted here in 1959. Only two other districts, in addition to District 741 of which the Newfoundland Club is a member, have participated in the program. One of these is in Colorado, and the other in Texas.

This year, 60 students will be interviewed for the exchange program, and from these 60, 20 will be selected to attend school in another part of the world. This is the only high school exchange program recognized by the State Department of the United States.

In addition to the speakers at this week's meeting, guests included Clayton Northrup, principal of Southern Wayne Joint School, and the wives of club members, who were guests in conjunction with a Ladies Night Program.

November 19 will be an open meeting. A film will be shown on November 26.

Tax Expense Accounts A Thing Of Past

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business News Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—For years, some taxpayers have been charging off the costs of yachts, hunting lodges and trips on tax-deductible expense accounts.

And they've been getting away with it, too, with the approval of the courts.

That's because the provisions of the old tax law were so vague. But things are going to change, beginning Jan. 1. The Internal Revenue Service, acting under the tax law of 1962, has new regulations with which to eliminate practices which Internal Revenue Commissioner Mortimer M. Caplin calls "shocking to the conscience."

Under the old law it was necessary for the taxpayer to show only that his expenses were ordinary and necessary to the conduct of his business.

Too Liberal
IRS officials felt that the courts construed these terms too liberally.

The new law, according to Caplin, "strikes at vagueness by imposing definite restrictions on certain types of expenditures."

The taxpayer will have to apply this test to his entertainment expenses:

Are they directly related to, or associated with the active conduct of your trade or business?

If so, the deductions will be allowed. If not, they will be rejected.

The new law will give the IRS a means of cracking down on deduction claims for lavish and extravagant entertainment expenses.

But a worrisome question is "What is lavish and extravagant?"

An accounting firm executive commented:

"What is lavish to an internal revenue agent might not be lavish to a company executive, so on a question of this kind there are likely to be as many different answers as there are tax agents."

Ohio production of farm products has increased about 35 or 40 per cent in the last 20 years.

And the result is likely to be a piling up of appeals and prolonged litigation."

Business men were expensive hobbies — yachts, hunting trips, fishing excursions, etc. — are going to have to prove that more than 50 per cent of the annual cost of these activities was directly related to or associated with business.

"If he's been getting a 100 per cent deduction, he's likely to wonder if it's worthwhile when, beginning next year, he has to pay, say, 48 per cent out of his own pocket," an IRS official said.

Where do you go from here?

The retirement years should represent years of happy leisure, but often they're accompanied by boredom and restlessness. Sometimes they are years fraught with fear, or loneliness.

Yet they can become wonderfully fulfilling and golden when faith abides. Your church or synagogue not only offers spiritual nourishment that is needed by healthy people of all ages. It also can offer stimulating companionship, and a sense of real purpose.

Strength, courage, happiness are the gifts of deep religious faith. Worship together this week at your church or synagogue.

L. Barrymore's Etchings Are Available In The Shop

IS THERE an artist or would-be artist on your Christmas List? If the answer is yes, there is only one answer as to where you should shop... The Walter Logan Art Shop, 515 Main St., Stroudsburg.

The Logans, Walter and Elsie, have been busy as Santa's "little helpers" (which indeed they are) seeking out those fine gifts for the art lover and artist alike. The store is laden with such a variety of fine gifts that one must really take time to digest the items in the mind.

Artists, amateur, professional, and rank beginners will enjoy and appreciate a gift of art supplies from this store. Canvases, oils, brushes, etchings and the like are to be found in abundance.

An outstanding addition to the beginning artist is the variety of oil painting sets in all sizes and price ranges... a wonderful selection of "how to" books to help the beginner get started... Pre-Planned Water Color pads have a number of subjects pre-sketches and furnish instructions on how to finish the picture. This, incidentally, is not a "paint by number" deal but will give a wholly professional look to the finished water color.

Most exciting news of all is the appointment of the Walter Logan Art Shop as exclusive local outlet for the works of the late actor, Lionel Barrymore.

Many people are familiar with his work in movies, on the stage and on radio, few realize that he was a most accomplished artist.

His chosen field in art was in producing etchings. The etchings he created during his lifetime have become rare collectors items today. Available at The Walter Logan Art Shop is a portfolio of four etchings (all that will be released this year) reproduced on gold foil in a limited number.

A set of these true collectors items would make welcome gift to anyone who enjoys and appreciates fine art.

No matter what type of art gift you are looking for, Walter and Elsie Logan will be happy to have you come in and browse and to help you with your selection, if you wish.

How To Select And Use A Roller To Paint

WHILE spray painting may be faster, painting with a roller is probably the easiest and quickest method for the average do-it-yourself decorator. Before you buy a roller, however, here are some of the things you should know that will help you select the right roller for the job you are doing.

First of all, it is important to use a roller that is suitable for the kind of paint to be applied. Lambswool rollers, for example, are excellent with oil-based paints but they should not be used with enamels or water-thinned latex paints because these paints will cause the wool to mat. This will make the roller unusable.

Mohair rollers can be used with any type-latex flat paint but are recommended especially for applying enamel and wherever a smooth finish is desired. Rollers made from synthetic fibers can also be used with all types of flat paint, inside and out. Where a stipple finish is desired, use a roller made of carpeting.

The second factor to consider is the length of the nap or pile which can range from one-sixteenth to 1 1/2 inches. A handy rule to remember is the smoother the surface, the shorter the nap; the rougher the surface, the longer the nap. Use short-napped rollers for most walls, ceilings and woodwork and smooth concrete. The longer naps are for rough masonry, brick, stucco, wire fences and other irregular surfaces.

For walls and the ceilings the best size roller for the amateur is the seven or nine-inch model. For finishing woodwork, doors and trim, the best choice is the 3-inch model. There are smaller sizes available to cut in corners and for use on window frames and moldings. There are even doughnut-shaped rollers that will coat both sides of a corner at the same time. To help you paint a wall without getting the paint on the ceiling there are special edging rollers, too.

Before you start applying the paint with a roller, first cut in the edges of the wall with a brush or with an edging roller, taking care not to get paint on the ceiling or the adjacent wall. Here's how to use your roller. Pour the thoroughly mixed paint into the well of the roller tray and then dip the roller in, loading it fully. Next, roll the roller over the slanting corrugated section of the tray to distribute the paint evenly over the entire surface of the roller and to remove excess paint.

Make your first stroke upward even if the general direction of the painting may be downward. Follow with a down stroke over the same area and then roll crosswise to assure even coverage. As you progress, always start in a dry area and roll toward one just Painted, blending in the laps.

Avoid rolling too fast; this causes splatters, as does spinning the roller at the end of the stroke. Always stop the roller before you lift it from the wall. Feather out the final stroke by using lighter pressure to avoid leaving too heavy an edge.

When you paint the ceiling, work across the width of the room, so that you can apply a second strip before the first gets tacky. This is a problem only with alkylid paints. Latex paints do not show lap marks and you can apply this type paint in random fashion. Many rollers are built so that extensions can be screwed into their handles. This makes it possible to paint the ceiling while standing on the floor. These handles also enable you to paint a floor without stooping or crouching.

And talking about crouching, you can enamel the baseboard much faster with a roller than a brush and thus will have to spend less time in an uncomfortable position. Be sure to protect the wall when you paint the baseboard.

Select your roller, paint and any other accessories you may need from Hamill's Paint Center, 37 S. Courtland St., East Stroudsburg. Also available is any advice you may need for painting, paperhanging or decorating.

A BILL to be taken up early in the next session of Congress will have an important effect, if it becomes law, on the availability of homes with low down payments and conventional long-term mortgages. Conventional mortgages are those not insured by the Federal Housing Administration or the Veterans Administration.

The measure would set up two publicly supervised but privately financed and managed corporations whose services would be available to all qualified investors and lenders. One of these corporations would insure, up to 100 per cent, conventional mortgages meeting prescribed standards. The second corporation would have the function of trading such mortgages on a nationwide basis and providing a ready and continuous market for them. In other words, the mortgages, through this corporation, would be bought and sold like any other instrument of credit.

Since all the mortgages would be fully insured, the bill would enable lenders to grant loans up to 90 per cent of the property's appraised value or sales price, and give borrowers up to 30 years to pay them off. Terms of this sort are available under mortgages insured by the FHA and the VA.

As a result, thousands of homes now are owned by persons who would not have been able to buy them otherwise.

But below-the-market interest rates and processing delays have made such mortgages unattractive to most lenders. In the last few years, some lending institutions have been able to make 90 per cent loans under mortgage insurance plans offered by private concerns. These companies can not offer their plans in certain states where mortgage insurance licenses have not been issued to them.

Two Alabama Congressmen, Sen. John Sparkman and Rep. Albert S. Rains, each chairman of a housing subcommittee, are sponsoring the legislation. It was developed after a long study by an industry-wide group which utilized the findings of Dr. Hobart C. Carr, chairman of the Banking and Finance Department at New York University, and Dr. Kurt F. Flexner, deputy manager of the American Bankers Association.

The proponents of the bill say its purpose is to improve the mortgage market so that the general public will have the benefit of efficient mortgage financing at the lowest possible cost. It is in essence says Sen. Sparkman, "designed to do for the conventional mortgage what the FHA and the Federal National Mortgage Association have done for the government-insured mortgage."

Asked if this new plan would mean the end of government housing aid and government-insured home mortgages, Dr. Flexner gave a positive no. He listed these places where government-aid programs and government-insured mortgages would be needed: urban redevelopment; housing for the elderly;

'Old Ironsides' Is Being Refurbished

BOSTON (AP) — An enduring symbol of the nation's sea power is receiving a million-dollar refurbishing. This token of the country's maritime might is of course the USS Constitution, better known as "Old Ironsides."

At this very moment, two railroad flatcars are rolling across the continent carrying eight titanic timbers, about 250 years in growing. The trees were thrusting green spires skyward in a forest near Molalla, Ore., long before Joshua Humphreys launched the Constitution in Boston in 1797.

Oldest In Commission
"Old Ironsides" is the oldest warship still in commission afloat. She flies the two-starred flag of the 1st Naval District's commandant, who is presently Rear Adm. Joseph Wellings.

Only Lord Nelson's flagship Victory is older, but she is far from in commission, declining in an earth-bound bed at Portsmouth, England.

The timbers en route are Douglas fir, 100 feet long and 18 inches square. When fabricated they will produce a 93-foot foremast and an 8-foot mizzen, with diameters in the vicinity of three feet. The present mainmast does not require replacement.

Much more than the new spars is needed by the Constitution. Through parsimony or heedlessness in Washington in recent years she has been neglected.

Extensive Repairs
Now extensive repairs and replacements are necessary to restore the stoutness which won her nom de guerre.

A tar seeing a British cannon ball bounce off her oaken planking exclaimed: "Her sides must be made of iron." Hence: Old Ironsides.

It is estimated that at least two years will be required for the work.

In preparation, her 52 guns, each weighing three tons, will be taken off next week.

Since 1955, nearly three and a half million visitors have toured the ship, which taught the Barbary pirates civilized deportment and distinguished herself in the War of 1812.

To Build Plant

States Rubber Co. said its Naugatuck Chemical Division will build a $6.5 million plant at Geismar, La., to manufacture ethylene-propylene rubber, a new material which can be processed in standard rubber industry equipment. The plant, to be completed early in 1964, will have a capacity of 32 million pounds of rubber yearly.

There are more than 700,000 rural boys who are Boy Scouts.

Crusaders Plan Program For County Home

Bartonsville — A report that the current project, painting and lettering of the church bulletin board, had been completed, was made at the meeting of Crusaders of St. John's Lutheran Sunday School. Plans for a new project were discussed.

It was decided to again present a program and gifts for the guests at the Monroe County Home, Kellersville. The date has been set for Dec. 16.

Rev. Robert Zuch volunteered to help with the youth group. Their next meeting will be held at the parish house on Wednesday night, Dec. 5.

December 14 was set for the Crusader Christmas meeting. At that time gifts will not be exchanged. Instead, money will be contributed for the upcoming project.

A letter from the Rev. Louis Bowers, missionary to Liberia, was read.

Rev. Zuch conducted a Bible study, "Abstinence and Enjoyment."

Refreshments were served by Mr. and Mrs. Haviland Heller. Members attending were Rev. Zuch, Mr. and Mrs. Verdon Frailey, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Cyphers, Mr. and Mrs. Haviland Heller, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Field, Sr., and Mrs. Joseph Dunbar and Emma Dunbar.

Lutheran Guild To Hold Meet

Members of the Womens Guild of the Grace Lutheran Church are reminded to bring articles for the White Elephant Sale to the meeting Tuesday at 8 p.m.

Mrs. George Stabenow will show slides taken during her recent trip through Scandinavian countries following the meeting.

Jolly Janes Help TB Seal Campaign

Bartonsville—Members of the Jolly Jane Club of Bartonsville recently spent an evening at the Monroe County Tuberculosis Society office in Stroudsburg, stuffing envelopes with the Christmas seals that are to be mailed out soon.

After the evening's work an informal birthday celebration was held in honor of Mrs. Richard Coss. She was presented with a birthday cake made by Mrs. Donald Hartman.

On November 7 the club members met at the home of Mrs. Emma Metzgar, of Stroudsburg, for their bi-weekly meeting. Mrs. Vernon Wallace received the hostess gift.

Mrs. Richard Coss invited the group to meet at her home on Nov. 20.

Refreshments featuring chicken salad were served.

Members present were Mrs. Vernon Wallace, Mrs. LeRoy Schreck, Mrs. Donald Hartman, Mrs. Frank Herting, Mrs. Edward Vican, Mrs. Fred Walters, Mrs. Richard Coss, Mrs. Russell Bond, Mary Alleger, Emma Dunbar and the hostess, Emma Metzgar.

Triola Infant Baptized In Canadensis

The Canadensis Moravian Church was the setting yesterday for the administration of the sacrament of baptism to Christopher Robert, the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Triola. Rev. Nathaniel Albee administered the rite.

Sponsors were Elroy Schipper, Jr., uncle of the child and Carol Smith.

Mrs. Triola is the former Judith Schipper, daughter of Elroy Schipper, Canadensis, and the late Kathryn Schipper.

Mrs. Harry Jurgens, Canadensis, is the paternal grandmother.

Barrett PTA Learns French Is Necessary

Barrett — "French In Elementary School", a round table discussion, was presented at the Barrett Elementary PTA meeting Monday night.

Mrs. Williams Anderson, in charge of the language at the Laboratory School of East Stroudsburg State College, and Lester Bowers, supervisor of elementary education at ESSC, were guest speakers. Mrs. Wilson Huffman, program chairman, acted as moderator.

"It is a very necessary course," Mrs. Anderson told the assembly.

Bowers said that it is easier to learn in elementary school and aids in the student looking forward to language later.

"The program in language is conversational, learned in the same manner a child learns English," Mrs. Anderson explained.

Due to a scarcity of teachers, the group will endeavor to get a student teacher from the college who will teach under the supervision of Mrs. Anderson. Children may attend the course voluntarily when it is presented.

In other business, Walter Melnikoff, legislative chairman, reported that the Pennsylvania State Education Assn. and Parent Teachers Assn. will try to advance educational legislation in the next session of state legislature. The announcement was based on information from the state convention at Williamsport.

Melnikoff also lauded the technical institute at Williamsport.

Sewing Bags Filled By Portland WSCS

Portland — The Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Portland Methodist church met on Wednesday night at the home of Mrs. Hiram Delp, Jr., with Mrs. Floyd LaBarre as co-hostess.

Mrs. John Rubble, president, opened the meeting with a poem and the Lord's Prayer in unison.

A report on the turkey dinner recently held by the society showed a good amount realized. It was decided to make and fill bags with needles, tape, buttons, etc., to be presented at the World Community Day service which will be held on Sunday in the Good Shepherd Lutheran Church at Martin's Creek. These will be sent overseas. The Christmas party will be held on Tuesday, December 4 in the social rooms of the church. There will be a gift exchange following the program.

The program was presented by the chairman Miss Ruth Williams and the theme was UNESCO of the United Nations. Parts were read in unison. Refreshments were served to the 16 members by the hostesses.

The program "Alcohol and Youth In Monroe County" to be presented tonight at the Stroud Union High School PTA meeting is open to the public.

Henry McCool, Monroe County probation officer, and Mrs. Rose Mevel, faculty member at East Stroudsburg State College, will be guest speakers at the meeting which begins at 8 p.m. in the cafeteria.

Leisure Hour To Plan For Holiday Fun

The nominating committee was appointed by Mrs. May Crane, president of the Leisure Hour Club at the meeting Wednesday.

Plans will be made for the Christmas party at the next meeting.

Members of the MORA Club joined the Leisure Hour Club members for a new game, "Making Your Last Will."

Refreshments were served to the combined clubs by Mrs. Violet Sheely, Mrs. Mary Burrows, Mrs. Lillian Sommer, Mrs. Margaret Lindner, Mrs. Annie Woodling and Mrs. Linda Kirkhoff.

Presbyterian Women's Group Hears Reports

Delaware Water Gap — The Presbyterian Women's Auxiliary met at the home of Mrs. C. B. Rosenkrans for the November meeting.

Present were Mrs. Russell Buzzard, Mrs. Guyton Kempter, Mrs. William E. Foden, Mrs. Robert Carlton, Mrs. William H. Donaldson, Mrs. Henry Kulp, the president; Mrs. Clifford Hauser, Mrs. Francis Drake, Mrs. Harold Croasdale, Mrs. H. J. LaBar, Mrs. Robert E. Smith, and the hostess Mrs. Rosenkrans.

Mrs. Kulp opened the meeting by reading a poem on gratitude, the 95th and 100th Psalms and a prayer of Thanksgiving.

At the business session, Mrs. Buzzard reported the cards sent to shut-ins. Mrs. Kulp gave a report of the Presbyterian meeting at Pen Argyl which was attended by herself, Mrs. Drake and Mrs. Buzzard.

Mrs. John O'Neill asked for volunteers to work in the school library two and one-half hours each month, which would mean that typing and cataloging would be done one day each week.

In other business, Miss Edna Elfe was appointed representative to the county council.

More than 90 parents registered for the open house program, held at the Barrett Elementary Center, Tuesday, in observance of National Education Week. The parents attended classes and observed the teaching techniques being used in each.

It was announced that the savings stamp program will resume in the near future. By purchasing the stamps, the children are able to save them in a book and turn them in to receive a Federal Savings Bond.

It was announced that the Bloodmobile drive would again be held Dec. 10. All parents were urged to aid in making it a success by signing and donating blood.

Mrs. Gantzhorn's third grade received the attendance award.

The fifth grade mothers served refreshments in the cafeteria.

Community Club Holds Annual Dinner Meeting

Barrett — Members of the Barrett Community Club honored past presidents at their annual dinner meeting Wednesday, Nov. 7 held at Dutch's, Canadensis.

Past presidents attending the 9th annual anniversary dinner were Mrs. Russell Brush, Mrs. Paul Miller, Mrs. Arthur McCambridge and Miss Barbara Carlton. Each guest was presented with a pom-pom corsage.

Past presidents not able to attend were Mrs. James Manhart, Mrs. Earl Thomas, Jr., and Mrs. Charles Schiem.

Following the dinner, Dee and Dale Crews, dance duo from Mount Airy Lodge, presented a program of various dance steps with commentary on origins.

The next meeting will be Dec. 3 at the Barrett Branch YMCA.

Youth Group Receives Challenge

Newfoundland — "Upon you - upon your imagination, your inspiration, your efforts, - the Church of Tomorrow depends,"

Carroll Fetherman, a member of the Moravian official board, told the Newtown - Newfoundland - South Sterling Youth Fellowship during its meeting at the South Sterling Methodist Church.

The challenge to young people to grow spiritually so that the future church might also grow, was issued at the close of the program which featured an explanation of "Outreach," by Albert Oberly, treasurer of the Hemlock Grove Methodist Church, and Mr. Fetherman. Mr. Oberly explained the workings of the church budget, and Mr. Fetherman discussed the need for more dedicated service.

The program was directed by the outreach commission and followed the theme, "As He Came, So We Go." Members participating were Michael Newcommer, James Carlton, and Mrs. Willard Croft, advisor.

During the business meeting, the group approved the date for the hay-ride, Donn Gross is chairman, and will accept reservations for the outing.

The group approved a $25 donation to Moravian missions, and has paid its $100 pledge to the Greene-Dreher Educational Fund. The latter amount was earned through two carnivals, the sale of home-baked bread, and individual "talent" pledges.

A "golden letter" to the Honorable Carlos P. Romulo, former ambassador to the United States from the Philippines, was signed by the group. The Philippine statesman, in his farewell statement to the American people, concluded with the words, "Farewell, America, may God always keep you, and may you always keep God."

A letter to the family of Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt was approved by the group.

There were 36 members present for the meeting, which was followed by Youth Fellowship choir practice for the Union Service of Thanksgiving which will be held at 9:30 a.m. at the Hemlock Grove Methodist Church by the three Methodist Churches and the Moravian Church on Nov. 22. Mrs. Robert Krieger directed the rehearsal.

Past presidents attending the 9th annual anniversary dinner were Mrs. Russell Brush, Mrs. Paul Miller, Mrs. Arthur McCambridge and Miss Barbara Carlton. Each guest was presented with a pom-pom corsage.

Past presidents not able to attend were Mrs. James Manhart, Mrs. Earl Thomas, Jr., and Mrs. Charles Schiem.

THE WYCKOFF SHOPPER

Mrs. Sidney K. Munter is one of five women who serve as vice presidents of the National Hadassah. She is tall and dignified, with a trace of Boston in her accent, a sincere dedication to her organization's ideals in her heart, and the earnest belief that there's really nothing wrong with this old world that could not be cured by an over-sized dose of human kindness.

It was my pleasure to meet Mrs. Munter at the Dessert-Membership Meeting of Hadassah at the Penn-Stroud Hotel on Thursday evening, and my privilege later to tape record an interview with her which will be presented on our Wyckoff Shopper radio programs of Tuesday and Wednesday mornings. I am sure you will enjoy hearing her discuss the Israel of today—its moral temperature, its progress and its philosophy. Also on the tape you will hear Ann Flesher and Past President, Rita Bernbaum, who worked together to coordinate the membership meeting; and the local president, Estelle Koster. Estelle tells me this year's Tamiment Fashion Show is scheduled for Wednesday, June 19th. It isn't too early to make a note of the date, so please do. You KNOW how time flies!

Some women "star gaze" and dream. I have a different method of doing much the same thing. I "STORE" gaze and yearn. Particularly now at the holiday season when there are so many things to see, with even more arriving hourly.

Last Friday I spent a wonderful quarter hour browsing in our center aisle, and here are a few things that caught my eye: in our Gift department, attractive turkey salt and pepper shakers for the Thanksgiving table. These are cute enough to be used at any time really, and only 69c, I believe—also, a cute stocking stuffer for a friend who collects salt and pepper shakers. . . . On a nearby table, there are unusual items from Yugoslavia: men and women figurines, rather crudely fashioned from wood, and gaily painted, the women actually wearing cloth babushkas. Despite the fact that they are utterly simple, they have a charm that is captivating, and would make attractive gifts either for those friends who collect unusual bric a brac or the girl who collects "dolls."

From the same country there is a high shoe, the top of which is brightly colored fabric. I thought of Betty Peckman, president of our Business and Professional Women's Club, when I saw these, because she has a collection of almost 200 unusual shoes and slippers from almost every country and of just about every type of material.

The Business and Professional Women observed Hobby Night this past Thursday. (Yes, I did get to both meetings on the one night!) and there were some very interesting ones. Hilda Kitzman made us all envious with her china dinner set which she herself painted and fired. Some people are so gifted!

I wonder if you've a hobby? If not, we have collector's items galore at Wyckoff's so why not begin? Why not "feed" a friend's hobby at Christmas? From art supplies to sewing machines with zigzag stitching, we have everything for you or those on your gift list. My "new" hobby is not purchasable. I've decided to begin collecting either Men, Money or both. Rare types are hard to find, I'm told . . . but a darned sight harder to hold on to!

TV Highlights

"THE JOURNEY," a story of adventure and suspense to be told in four successive episodes on the "Lassie" series on the CBS Television Network, is now being filmed for presentation later in the season. In this story Timmy and Lassie are trapped in the gondola of a huge balloon and carried across the wilds of the United States and Canada, it is expected that this adventure will surpass in scope the three-part "Lassie's Odyssey" which was seen last winter.

A series of five broadcasts produced in England will be presented on "Calendar" starting this morning from 10 to 10:30, chs. 2 and 10. Today's show is Part I of a tour of Woburn Abbey, the Duke of Bedford's estate in Bedfordshire, with the Duke conducting the tour.

Robert Q. Lewis becomes permanent host of "Play Your Hunch" this morning. The daytime game show is seen on chs. 3 and 4 from 10:30 to 11.

Phyllis McGuire are guests on daytime "Password" for the week, chs. 2 and 10 from 2 to 2:30.

Henry Morgan, Larry Storeh, Anna Quayle and Guy Rotonda are Merv's guests on this afternoon's "Merv Griffin Show" from 2 to 2:55.

Lucy's new boyfriend (Frank Aletter) is an amateur classical violinist, to impress him she throws a birthday party for Wolfgang A. Mozart, on "The Lucy Show" from 8:30 to 9, chs. 2 and 10. On "The Danny Thomas Show" from 9 to 9:30 Charlie (Sid Melton) reminisces about the beginning of his partnership with Danny. From 9:30 to 10, on "The Andy Griffith Show" the mayor blocks plans for a trip by the Mayberry Band, Parley Baer is featured as Mayor Stonor. The twins hide a friend who is in trouble on "The New Loretta Young Show" from 10 to 10:30.

Dirk and Dack Rambo are featured as the Massey twins, Peter Brooks, guest stars. Hedy Lamarr and Richard Montalban are guests on "Stump the Stars" from 10:30 to 11.

Glynis Johns and Edward Blinn guest star in tonight's drama on "Saints and Sinners" from 8:30 to 9:30, chs. 3 and 4. Barbara Rush appears in the role of Lizzie Hogan (an occasional guest starring role). Nick Adams is the series star. The drama concerns a housewife who is thrown into turmoil when a missing World War II bomber is found years later in the North African desert.

From 9 to 10 on chs. 6 and 7 "Stoney Burke" starts own investigation in an effort to clear Ves (Warren Oates) of a homicide charge. Jack Lord plays the title role. On "Ben Casey" from 10 to 11, Robert Walker Jr. stars in a story of Dr. Casey's battle against a brain malignancy.

Great Britain's race problem, similar in some respects to problems in the U.S. South, will be explored on "David Brinkley's Journal," chs. 3 and 4 from 10 to 10:30.

Jack Douglas and his wife, Reiko, Patricia Morrison and the Thunderbirds are guest on "The Tonight Show Starring Johnny Carson," chs. 3 and 4 from 11:15 to 1 a.m.

Thanksgiving Service Set For S-burg

A UNION Thanksgiving Service will be held in the Stroudsburg Methodist Church on Wednesday, Nov. 21, at 7:30 p.m. The churches cooperating include the host church along with the Christ Episcopal Church, First Presbyterian Church, Zion United Church of Christ and the Methodist and Presbyterian Churches of Delaware Water Gap.

The preacher for the evening will be the Rev. William Foden, pastor of the Presbyterian Church of the Mountain, Delaware Water Gap and youth director of the First Presbyterian Church of Stroudsburg.

Mr. Foden is a native of New York City and a graduate of New York University and Union Theological Seminary. He has served pastorates in East Moriches, Long Island, Dayton, New Jersey and Minneapolis, Minnesota. This year he is also completing requirements for the Master of Theology degree at Princeton Theological Seminary. Mr. Foden resides with his wife and two children in the manse at Delaware Water Gap. He began his work in Monroe County in September of this year.

Other resident clergymen will participate in conducting the service. The Rev. Roger Stinson, the host pastor, will preside. The Rev. Charles Park, of Christ Episcopal Church, will offer the evening prayer. The Rev. Joseph Carr, of the Zion United Church of Christ, will read the scripture, and the Rev. John A. Bollier, of Stroudsburg Presbyterian Church will lead in the responsive reading.

As in previous years the complete offering at the Union Thanksgiving Service will be designated for the Monroe County General Hospital.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Monday, November 19

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — Don't let your mind wander. Use corrective measures when occasion arises. Get out with a friend and try confidently. There's always room for healthy ambitions.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus) — Influences can be more helpful than you think. The soundly energetic worker finds openings where others fail. Maintain balance with steady effort and common sense.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini) — Reach into the unusual, the eye-catching. Learn new methods, help build understanding between peoples. Set mind on rightful obligations and assist in trouble.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — Your ruling planet, Moon, augments influence in all things. Stimulate your power, energize your activities. New — in the right way, only by asking questions will you get answers.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo) — Expect some irritating situations. By being prepared, you can handle them successfully. Affairs close to home, civic interests could bound ahead under your wise guidance.

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo) — Avoid hasty decisions. Essential matters, industrial trades; work with the soil, machinery, tools; making needed improvements, appropriate changes favored.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra) — Mild influences preclude time to regroup, explain, and lose a hectic day. A quiet time is a good time to regroup, explain, and lose a hectic day. A quiet time is a good time to regroup, explain, and lose a hectic day.

October 24 to November 23 (Scorpio) — Up and forward with good will, accuracy, do not permit others' requests to clutter your routine. Do not violate confidences.

November 24 to December 23 (Sagittarius) — Make your day's beginning a careful one, so as not to have to regret later. Do not lose valuable time. Don't mix with those not interested in your best aims.

December 24 to January 23 (Capricorn) — Study trends, recognize the true resources for tapping. Develop your top-flight facilities and put everything into this day to give the week the right send-off.

January 24 to February 23 (Aquarius) — Frankness! Yes, in its place, but a measure of tact and delicacy required, too. Note another person's reason for certain actions; judge impartially, as you'd finer self would.

February 24 to March 23 (Pisces) — Be elastic enough in thought to take in a brand new idea or device before it is outmoded. Resist doubting and skepticism. There are hypercritical tendencies about you. You HOPE TODAY are surely among the do-ers not just the dreamers. But you have your moments for dreaming, too. However, Scorpio's nature must achieve, keep reaching for new heights, so dreams often materialize in unexpected action, and you can catch others off guard with bright ideas and unusual plans. Strengthen your good points, eliminate anything unworthy of your grand talents and your route to success and real happiness will be paved smoothly. You can cooperate and go it alone, but the latter is not always wise. Birthdate: Jan. Garfield, 20th U.S. Pres. ask employee.

Scranton To Cut Short Vacation

HOBE SOUND, Fla. (AP)—Meetings this week with Pennsylvania House and Senate leaders prompted Gov. elect William Scranton yesterday to cut short his post-election Florida vacation.

Scranton told a news conference he would leave Monday, a day earlier than originally planned. He said he would meet Tuesday morning with Senate leaders and in the afternoon with House members to discuss general outlines of his administration's legislative program.

Upon his return to Harrisburg, Scranton said he planned to talk to as many leaders in the state as quickly as possible.

Scranton was asked Thursday if he planned to have Martin Brackbill in his administration. He replied, "I would like very much to have him in the administration, although I have not spoken to him about it."

Brackbill, a one-time newspaperman, has held a number of important state posts under Republicans in the last two decades. He was information officer for the General State Authority and a deputy auditor general until the Democrats won that office two years ago. Since then he has been a research specialist for the Republican State Committee.

Scranton said he would go to Scranton Wednesday for Thanksgiving and return to Harrisburg Friday.

The Daily Investor

Different Companies

By William A. Doyle

Q. I read in the paper that Standard Oil Co. (Indiana) announced plans to distribute to its stockholders some stock of Standard Oil Co. (New Jersey). Won't this short-change the Standard Oil Co. (New Jersey) stockholders?

A. No, We'll try to keep the confusion to a minimum by calling these two companies by their generally-accepted nicknames — Standard of Indiana and SONJ. Remember that these are two separate companies.

SONJ has some 216 million shares of stock outstanding. Each share, of course, represents a share of ownership in that giant petroleum company.

The record book shows that SONJ has about 715,000 stockholders. The latest available records show that Standard of Indiana owned 1,908,602 shares of SONJ stock. In other words, Standard of Indiana is a big stockholder (part owner) of SONJ.

On Dec. 10 Standard of Indiana will distribute to its stockholders one share of SONJ for each 115 shares of Standard of Indiana owned of record Oct. 31. This will be in addition to the quarterly (every three months) cash dividend of 45 cents to be paid on every share of Standard of Indiana stock at the same time.

In round numbers this means that Standard of Indiana will distribute about 300,000 shares of SONJ stock to Standard of Indiana stockholders. Standard of Indiana stockholders entitled to receive fractions of SONJ shares will be paid in cash.

This doesn't change the total number of SONJ shares outstanding. It simply switches ownership of some 300,000 SONJ shares from Standard of Indiana to other people.

This is not an uncommon practice. A number of companies which own stocks of other companies make distributions of this type from time to time. As a matter of fact, Standard of Indiana has distributed to its stockholders stock of SONJ every year since 1948.

Q. I used to follow Plymouth Oil stock regularly. But I no longer see it listed in newspaper tables of New York Stock Exchange trading. What happened to it? It was there a year ago.

A. This shows that a lot of things can happen in a year. Back on March 28 Plymouth Oil stockholders approved the sale of substantially all of the company's assets (oil and gas property, etc.) to Ohio Oil Co. at a total price of about $114 million.

Don't look for Ohio Oil in the stock tables. That company has since changed its name to Marathon Oil.

The sale was effective April 3. Plymouth Oil stockholders received cash liquidating distributions of $30 a share and then $3 a share — for a total of $33 a share. It had been expected that the liquidating distributions would amount to $35.50 a share. However, about $4.4 million of the proceeds from the sale of the company's assets is being reserved, pending the outcome of legal and tax actions.

When the company began to liquidate (go out of business) the stock was de-listed from trading on the stock exchange.

The point to be made here is obvious. If you are really interested in a stock and are thinking about buying it, you should follow it more closely — not just look at its market price after a year's lapse.

(Mr. Doyle will answer only representative letters of general interest in his column. He cannot answer phone queries.)

Nanticoke Man Caught

WILKES-BARRE, Pa. (AP) — Edward Yaros, 35, Nanticoke, an employee of the McGregor Sports-wear Co. for the past 8½ years, was apprehended by state and Nanticoke police Friday on a charge of the theft of approximately 150 shirts and 25 sweaters valued at over $1,100 from that company.

At a hearing before Alderman John Evanish at Nanticoke police headquarters, Yaros pleaded guilty to a charge of larceny by employee and was released under $2,000 bail to await grand jury action.

and he sang and danced with glee.

I'VE GOT THE ANSWER

"That's the answer to our woes."
as he pranced upon his toes. So, boys and girls, here's what to do . . . TALK TO SANTA and don't feel blue,
Tell him what you'd like,
so that he knows.

Dial 421-1477
Talk with Santa in person,
TUESDAY NIGHT
from 6 p.m. to 8 p.m.
